

HOW CAN YOU INVOLVE & LISTEN TO YOUNG PEOPLE IN YOUR CLUB?

Why?

The opportunity for youth is now here to support the running of grassroots football. To develop youth-adult partnership between our current and emerging generation of young people allows for football to stay relevant and vibrant

This current generation of young people are more connected to each other and to information than previous generations. They have new skills and approaches that have the potential to transform the way in which the game is run, organised and developed.

Let youth lead through player groups and councils to influence decisions which will impact them

Share decision making through hosting forums or developing youth ambassadors to seek and represent the views of their peers

Consult with young people on matters that impact them, find creative ways for them to have a voice

Actively listen to young people through surveys and questionnaires
